Observations:

Please see comments for each page below.

RADAR Homepage

Thumbnail images are accompanied by link text (“View output”, creator name). However, non-empty alt text is provided that references filenames and the word “thumbnail”, resulting in reduced screen reader usability. If a thumbnail is inside a link that already has the same accessible link text, the image should be decorative (alt=“”). Do not include filenames or phrases like “thumbnail of” in alt text, as this creates repetition and fails WCAG 1.1.1 quality expectations

Creator/Author

Two logos on the page have no accessibility markup. These are links to the GSA website.

School/Academic Area

Year

Two logos on the page have no accessibility markup. These are links to the GSA website.

Latest Additions

Thumbnail images have alt text that is a duplicate of the nearby link text. Some text are very long causing a repeat of information that would not be great for a screen reader user. Note from content creator: the ‘alt’ text for the images on the ‘Latest additions’ page is going to be meaningful (and not repetitious) whenever the individual image title metadata has been specified by the researcher. It is only going to be repetitious when those titles haven’t been completed, and it defaults back to using the overall output title instead.

Theses

Two logos on the page have no accessibility markup. These are links to the GSA website.
