

Dr Ken Neil
Head of Research
The Glasgow School of Art
167 Renfrew Street
Glasgow
G3 6RQ

10 October 2013

Dear Dr Neil,

Confirmation of Authorship for Julie Ramage

I can confirm that Julie Ramage was the lead author on the two reports cited below and acted in the role of project manager for both studies.

- Ramage, Julie and Henderson, L. (2009) A review of mentoring literature and best practice. National Endowment for Science, Technology and the Arts.
- Ramage, Julie, Miller, Richard and Mack-Smith, David (2010) Feasibility Study of Film and Production Space in Scotland. Scottish Enterprise.

If you require any further information about Ms Ramage's contributions to these projects please contact me.

Yours sincerely,

David Mack-Smith
Director

dmacksmith@sqw.co.uk

SQW

48 Melville Street, Edinburgh EH3 7HF

T. 44 (0) 131 225 4007 F.44 (0) 131 225 4077 www.sqw.co.uk

SQW is a trading name of SQW Limited. Registered in England No. 1701564

Registered office: 43 Chalton Street, London NW1 1JD, United Kingdom

Ken Neil,
Head of Research,
GSA,
167 Renfrew Street,
Glasgow,
G3 6RQ

26 September 2013

Dear Mr Neil

Creative Business Mentor Research Review- authored by Julie Ramage, 2009

I am writing to confirm that Julie Ramage, whilst employed by SQW was contracted by Nesta to do a piece of research work to study and evaluate Nesta's mentoring programmes which were being run across the UK for creative businesses /games companies and to prepare a literature review of models of best practise. Julie was the lead researcher and the primary author of this piece of work as the Senior Researcher (supported by her colleague Laura Henderson) during 2009. As is our normal practise, Julie's name was not credited on the printed publication, but I can confirm that she was indeed the author of this substantive piece of work, the results of which we were pleased with.
<http://www.nesta.org.uk/library/documents/Creative-Bsiness-Mentor-Review.pdf>

Do contact me if you would like any further information.

Yours truly

Jackie McKenzie
Head of Innovation Programmes Nesta Scotland