

Love Shack, Cumbria

A practice-based output by Architects Sutherland-Hussey exploring and developing the notion of the 'microdwelling' within the rural location of the National Park. This project attempted to design a small dwelling with architectural qualities associated with much larger buildings and that incorporated the natural advantages of its setting resulting in an award-winning design.

Submitted by C.Hussey

