How should art and design education cope with the rapidly changing new world? What roles will art and design education play in the overall sense of higher education, blending in the knowledge teaching and talents cultivating of other disciplines? Educators, designers and artists from renowned art and design universities all over the world will share their thoughts and ideas, seeking the value and possibility of art and design while facing the challenges of the times through differences and consensus.

SYMPOSIUM 1

NEW SPECIES? IN A CROSS DISCIPLINARY PARADIGM

9:00 October 30th, 2021

A435, Block A, Academy of Arts & Design, Tsinghua University

When the art and design issues are becoming more and more complex, the importance of interdisciplinary innovation has become a consensus. In this context, many "new species" have emerged in our education. How shall we define these new disciplines? How to define the new boundary between disciplines? Or should there be the boundaries?
